

Submissions

All manuscripts must be written in clear and grammatically correct English. The text of the manuscript must be provided in Microsoft Word format. Figures should not be embedded within the manuscript but must be supplied in separate electronic files (preferably TIFF, PDF or EPS; Microsoft Office files (Word, Excel, Powerpoint) are also possible). For detailed information on artwork instructions, please refer to <http://www.elsevier.com/artworkinstructions>. Any comments for the editor, e.g. a statement outlining the basic findings of the paper and their significance, requests to exclude some individuals from the review process, or suggestions for up to four competent reviewers (including e-mail address) can be submitted via the respective "Comments to the Editor" text field during online submission or by sending a cover letter via e-mail. Manuscripts should be submitted to the Editorial Office in either one of the following ways (online submissions are preferred):

Manuscripts are accepted for review on the understanding that the same work has not been published, that it is not under consideration for publication elsewhere, and that its submission for publication has been approved by all of the authors and by the appropriate authority at the institution where the work was carried out. Authors must verify the wording of any cited personal communication with the persons who supplied the information and obtain approval for the use of their names in connection with the quoted information or for the citation of unpublished work.

Organisation of manuscripts

Manuscripts should be double-spaced throughout on one side of 8.5 x 11-inch or A4 paper with line numbering. Pages should be numbered consecutively and organized as follows:

The Title Page (p. 1) should contain the article title (do neither capitalize the title, nor any headings or subheadings in the text), authors' names and complete affiliations, footnotes to the title, and the address for manuscript correspondence (including e-mail address and telephone and fax numbers).

The Abstract (p. 2) must be a single paragraph that summarizes the main findings of the paper. After the abstract a list of up to 6 keywords that will be useful for indexing or searching should be included.

The Introduction should be as concise as possible, without subheadings.

Materials and methods should be sufficiently detailed to enable the experiments to be reproduced.

Results and Discussion may be combined and may be organized into subheadings.

Only genus or species names as well as names of genes should be italicized, but not other Latin expressions (e.g. in vivo, in vitro, etc.). Non-standard Abbreviations should be spelt in full when used for the first time in the text.

Acknowledgments should be brief and should precede the references.

Illustrations: The maximum type area is 17.7 cm width and 23.4 cm height. Figures should be designed to fit either one-column size (8.5 cm) or two-columns size (17.7 cm) in width. Figures must be ready for reproduction with clear lettering in suitable size. Color figures can be printed only if the costs are covered by the author (350 EUR for the first color figure, and 250 EUR for every following color figure). In exceptional cases color figure fees may be waived at the editor's discretion.

References to the literature should be cited by author(s) and year in the text and listed in alphabetical order at the end. Use the most recent edition of the Chemical Abstracts Service Source Index for abbreviations of journal titles. Examples for citations in the text:

Single author: the author's name (without initials, unless there is ambiguity) and the year of publication, e.g. "as shown by Smith (1999)" or "as shown previously (Smith, 1999)".

Two authors: both authors' names and the year of publication, e.g. "as shown by Smith and Miller (2001)" or "as shown previously (Smith and Miller, 2001)".

More than two authors: first author's name followed by "et al." and the year of publication, e.g. "as shown by Smith et al. (2003)" or "as shown previously (Smith et al., 2003)".

Groups of references should be listed first alphabetically, then chronologically, e.g. "as demonstrated (Allan, 1996a, 1996b, 1999; Allan and Jones, 1995; Kramer et al., 1993)".

In the reference list references should be arranged first alphabetically and then further sorted chronologically if necessary. More than one reference from the same author(s) in the same year must be identified by the letters "a", "b", "c", etc., placed after the year of publication.

Examples:Reference to a journal publication:

Schettgen T., Rossbach, B., Kütting, B., Letzel, S., Drexler, H., Angerer, J., 2004. Determination of haemoglobin adducts of acrylamide and glycidamide in smoking and non-smoking persons of the general population. Int. J. Hyg. Environ. Health 207, 531-539.

Reference to a book:

Riley, L.W., 2004. Molecular Epidemiology of Infectious Diseases: Principles and Practices. ASM Press, Washington, DC.

Reference to a chapter in an edited book:

Rademaker, J.L.W., De Bruijn, F.J., 1997. Characterization and classification of microbes by rep-PCR genomic fingerprinting and computer-assisted pattern analysis. In: Caetano-Anollés, G., Gresshoff, P.M. (Eds.), DNA markers: Protocols, applications and overviews. J. Wiley & Sons, New York, pp. 151-171.

Copyright

Once a paper is accepted, authors will be asked to transfer copyright (for more information on copyright, see <http://www.elsevier.com/authorsrights>). A form facilitating transfer of copyright will be provided after acceptance. If material from other copyrighted works is included, the author(s) must obtain written permission from the copyright owners and credit the source(s) in the article.

Proofs

Proofs will be sent to the author. To avoid delay in publication, proofs should be returned promptly. No alterations should be made other than those needed to correct typographical errors. Costs for extensive additional alterations will be charged to the authors.

Reprints

Twenty-five reprints will be supplied free of charge.

Funding body agreements and policies

Elsevier has established agreements and developed policies to allow authors who publish in Elsevier journals to comply with potential manuscript archiving requirements as specified as conditions of their grant awards.
